

TABLE OF CONTENTS

TABLE OF CONTENTS	i
LIST OF FIGURES	v
LIST OF TABLES	v
ENGLISH ABSTRACT	vii
CHINESE ABSTRACT	viii
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	ix
CHAPTER I: INTRODUCTION	1
1.1 Introduction.....	1
1.2 Statement of the Problem.....	3
1.3 The Purpose of the Study.....	3
CHAPTER II: LITERATURE REVIEW	5
2.1 What is CALL?.....	5
2.1.1 The Role of CALL.....	5
2.1.2 Effectiveness of CALL.....	6
2.2 Literature Review: Needs Analysis of CALL Technology from Learners’ Views.....	11
2.2.1 Evaluating CALL from Students’ Perceptions.....	11
2.2.2 Needs Analysis.....	14
2.3 E-learning for Major, Uncommon, and Endangered Languages.....	17
2.3.1 E-learning of Mainstream Languages.....	17
2.3.2 E-learning of Less Commonly Taught and Endangered Languages.....	19

2.3.3 The Endangered Languages Context of E-learning Materials in Taiwan.....	22
2.4 The Present Study.....	25
2.4.1 About the Project of the Yami Language Learning Center.....	25
2.4.2 The Present Study.....	33
CHAPER III: METHOD.....	35
3.1 The Setting and Participants.....	35
3.1.1 Seven Participants as the” First” Website Testers (2006 Spring).....	35
3.1.2 Field Trip to Orchid Island of “the Second Stage” in 2006 Winter.....	37
3.1.3 Four Graduate Students of “the Third Stage” in 2007 Spring.....	40
3.2 Tools and Procedures.....	41
3.3.1 The First Stage.....	41
3.3.2 Data of the Second Stage.....	43
3.3.3 Data of the Third Stage.....	44
CHAPER IV: RESULTS AND DISCUSSIONS.....	46
4.1 Results and Discussions 1: Needs Analysis from the First Group of Users in the First Stage.....	46
4.1.1 Needs Analysis from Learners’ Expectations.....	46
4.1.2 Needs Analysis from Users’ Evaluation of the Website.....	47
a. Needs of Teaching Materials.....	48
b. Needs of Website Interface.....	51
4.1.3 Needs Analysis from Learning Difficulties and Learning Strategies.....	55
4.2 Results and Discussions 2: Needs from the Native Speakers’ Perceptions in the Second Stage.....	61
3.2.1 The Quantitative Investigations.....	61

a, Students' Perceptions to the Website.....	61
b. Needs Analysis from Quantitative Study.....	66
4.2.2 The Qualitative Exploration.....	68
a. Learners' Expectations for the Site.....	69
b. Needs Analysis from Learning Difficulties.....	70
c. Exploring Needs from the Using Experience.....	74
d. Summary.....	79
4.3 Results and Discussions 3: Deeper Investigations for the Learning Needs in the Third Stage.....	81
4.3.1 Using the Website as Assisting Classroom Language Learning.....	81
a. Needs Analysis from Learning Difficulties and Strategies.....	82
b. Needs Analysis from the Using Experience.....	88
4.3.2 Needs Analysis from Previewing the Site.....	95
4.4 Discussions among the Three Stages.....	96
CHAPER V: CONCLUSIONS.....	99
REFERENCES.....	103
APPENDIXES.....	111
Appendix 1. Interview questions for the first stage (English version).....	111
Appendix 2: Interview questions for the first stage (Chinese version).....	116
Appendix 3. The original version of Lwo's study (2005), modified version in the study and the reasons of modifying them.....	121
Appendix 4: The questionnaire of investigating general ideas about the website in the second stage (English version).....	122

Appendix 5: The questionnaire of investigating general ideas about the website (Chinese version).....	124
Appendix 6. The questionnaire of the qualitative part in the second stage (English version).....	126
Appendix 7. The questionnaire of the qualitative part in the second stage (Chinese version).....	129
Appendix 8. The third stage interview questions (English version) Questions for the first time interview.....	133
Appendix 10. Questions for the second, third, and fourth time interview (English version).....	134
Appendix 11. Questions for the second, third, and fourth time interview (Chinese version).....	137
Appendix 12. Questions for the fifth time interview with using the website in preview (English version).....	139
Appendix 13. Questions for the fifth time interview with using the website in preview (Chinese version)	140
Appendix 14. The image of the fifth question in the game of lesson two.....	141
Appendix 15. The image of the final questions in the game of lesson one.....	141

LIST OF FIGURES

Figure 1. Exercise of “picture drag and drop” in the SEAsite.....	21
Figure 2. Teaching material of Nine-Year Compulsory Curriculum with sound demonstration.....	24
Figure 3. Multiple choice of practicing aboriginal language.....	24
Figure 4. Spectrogram in the Yami language learning center.....	28
Figure 5. Word and sentence exercises of spectrogram in the Yami language learning center.....	28
Figure 6. Images of game practice of lesson five.....	30
Figure 7. Overall structure of each lesson.....	31
Figure 8. The image of students’ need for sound track.....	89
Figure 9. Picture of the sixth question in the game of lesson three.....	92
Figure 10. Revised version of the grammar analysis section.....	93
Figure 11. Image of the dictionary in Digital archiving Yami language documentation.....	94

LIST OF TABLES

Table 1. Project investigators and members and their work for Yami language learning website.....	27
Table 2. Different interview structures in the third stage.....	45
Table 3. Students’ expectations of the course and site before entering the class.....	47
Table 4. The deficiencies of teaching materials and students’ views of them.....	48
Table 5. The deficiency of website interface and students’ views of the deficiency...51
Table 6. Percentage of agreement, neutral comment, disagreement for the site interface (layout and audio effect).....	62

Table 7. Percentage of agreement, neutral comment, disagreement for the site content.....	62
Table 8. Percentage of agreement, neutral comment, disagreement for the learner-control and attraction of the website.....	63
Table 9. Anova of comparing the degree of agreement with three grades among the items.....	65
Table 10. The percentage of agreement among the six villages.....	66
Table 11. The ranking of the learning needs in the website.....	67
Table 12. Expectations for the participants after school and for the site.....	69
Table 13. Students' listening and speaking difficulties and their strategies.....	71
Table 14. Students' reading and writing difficulties and their strategies.....	73
Table 15. Overall learning needs from using experience.....	94

ABSTRACT

E-learning has been adapted for widespread application in language education. The role of technology is not as an optional tool but required element in learning and teaching; therefore, the evaluation of educational software and websites has become more important. However, studies in the past years were focused on developing e-learning tools for mainstream languages such as English, French or Chinese. Endangered or less commonly taught languages received minor attention. The attempt of this study was to develop a website—the Yami language learning center for the endangered language, through the evaluation of students' perceptions. Also, the research sought to collect the learning needs from different directions to promote and further develop the site. This paper was divided into three stages. (1) In the first stage, two male and five female graduate students were the initial users of the site. The results explored the cultural information that was expected to be provided in the website before they used it. In addition, pictures which heightened the users' attraction were included. Practice exercises were required the most among the users because they could use it effectively to assist their learning. Before the second stage, the feedback from the users' opinions of the first stage were answered and put in action. The site was more developed and more complete than in the previous stage. (2) During this stage, the site was introduced to native speakers of the Yami language. The quantitative inquiry found the website received positive feedback from 116 junior high school students. Furthermore, the second and third grade students showed higher interest in using the website. In the qualitative design, five of these students were invited to use all the functions on the website. The results firstly showed the participants hoped the site would add practice section on word meaning and spelling. Moreover, the students would like to practice speaking skills, so they anticipated the section of "Demonstrate" would produce sound tracks in coordination with the text reading. Finally, the native speaker users expressed the sentiment that the existence of the Yami language learning center was meaningful for them in that they would never forget their own language. (3) Finally, in the third stage, four students participated by using the website to assist Yami learning. Especially, the site was viewed as requiring a preview for the class. It found that students did not adjust to a top-down design but preferred a bottom-up strategy to understand the language elements in a unit. Because website evaluation is time-consuming, the results could not completely reflect the needs of the students. However, it provides lots of useful comments for further developing and fine-tuning the on-going e-learning project. The study suggests other directions and target users for future studies of needs analysis.

摘要

電腦輔助教學已在語言教育蔚為風潮，科技的角色不再是個選擇，而必須使用於教學與學習，相繼而來的議題就是教育者要如何評估網站的品質；然而在過去的相關的文獻中，較著重於主流語言，而少數或是瀕危語言的電腦教育發展卻少之又少，此論文研究的目的即從學生的觀點出發，來評估與發展一個專為瀕危語言設計的網站計畫——蘭嶼達悟語學習中心；另外，也希望研究中可經由訪談儘可能蒐集分析學生的學習需求，提供網站修改方向，進而讓此網站達到提供高品質的學習環境。因此，本研究分為三個不同階段：(1) 在第一階段中，網站由七位研究生，以第一批使用者的身分來評估網站，結果發現，學生們在瀏覽網站前，最期待它可以提供文化方面的資訊，另外，圖片和練習遊戲也是學生最大的需求，前者可以引起學生學習的興趣，後者可有效幫助學生複習學過的課程。在進入第二階段之前，學生的需求經過計畫成員的努力過後而美夢成真，網站整體畫面和功能要比之前進步許多。(2) 在第二階段內，計畫成員將改善過後的網站推出了臺灣，朝向外島蘭嶼的當地人邁進，於此，研究分為兩個部份。第一個部份將設計好的量化問卷，由 116 位蘭嶼國中學生回答，結果顯示網站獲得了大部分學生的認同，尤其，二、三年級的學生較一年級的學生，願意使用網站，尤其是字典的部份獲得好評。而第二個階段的另外一個部份，以質化的角度來蒐集更多學生的需求，首先，學生希望網站能增加多一點字義和拼音方面的練習，再者，因為學生喜好放學後練習說雅美語，所以他們希望在“學習示範”裡可以像課文閱讀一樣有聲音示範，最後，這些學生表示，這個網站的存在是相當有意義的，就算他們以後到外地唸書或工作，只要進入這裡，他們就不會忘掉自己的母語。(3) 四位研究生參與了第三階段研究，網站分別被視為複習和預習的功能。首先在複習方面，學生要求網站可以提供更多元的遊戲練習，而不是只有著重於文法上的題目；在預習的角度上，學生發現他們不太習慣網站的自上而下(top-down)的編排方式，原因可能是他們喜愛的策略是自下而上(bottom-up)的學習，習慣先認識結構或是句型，再來才是整個情境或對話。

網站的評估是極為耗時，所以本研究並無法蒐集全面性的學習需求，但是，它的確提供網站寶貴的意見，在未來的研究上，建議可從本研究尚未著眼的角度，繼續從事需求分析使網站邁向高品質的未來。

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The thesis was conducted for one year and I would to express my appreciations to those who had helped, supported, and encouraged me. My first sincere appreciation goes to my advisor, Der-Hwa Victoria Rau, for her precious instructions, insightful guidance, and consistent encouragement. She had said “I am a coach who urges you to finish your thesis!” but for me, she is not only a great teacher. In fact, she is sometimes like a kindly mother. I always feel warm when she inspires me “You can do it!”, if I face the barriers in writing the thesis.

My greatest appreciation goes to the committee members, Dr. Florey and Dr. Yang, for their kindly participation to the oral defense and provides me great suggestions to shape my final revision of the thesis.

Next, I have to express my earnest gratitude to my colleagues. To Joyce, Kelly, Sam, Shirley, and Tanya, I feel lucky to have your supports and I would like express my sincere gratitude for you. To Sylvia, I really feel thankful that you allow me to think about my thesis in your room and you always supply me lots of insightful ideas. Without the helps and encouragements from these six colleagues, the thesis would never been possible. Also I would like to say to all of you “I hope we are a union forever!”

Furthermore, I would like to express my special gratitude to my friends. Jasmine is a nice partner who accompanied and helped me in the field trip to Orchid Island. I will not forget the memory that we both collected the data in a horrible weather. To Alice, she is a good neighbor and always welcomes me to chat with her and her rabbit when I feel a huge pressure from the thesis.

Especially, I would like to give my deepest appreciation to my family who always care about my health and thesis.

My final appreciation goes to my boyfriend, Kou-Hao Lu, and our lovely pets, Co and Bu. To Lu, when I am anxious or depressed on my thesis, he bears all my negative emotions that I can not show to others. I can receive your endless love and become stronger when I feel I have limited energy for the thesis. To Co and Bu, their company or pictures can console with my tired body and spirit everyday.

This thesis is dedicated as a token of my utmost gratitude to all of them.